

AUDITION DETAILS

Steel Magnolias is a heartwarming and humorous play set in a small Southern town, centered around a close-knit group of women who gather regularly at Truvy's beauty salon. The play explores themes of friendship, love, loss, and resilience as these women navigate the ups and downs of life, from marriages and family dramas to health crises. At its heart, Steel Magnolias is about the strength and bonds of women who face life's challenges with humor, grace, and a whole lot of southern sass. It's a moving, funny, and ultimately uplifting celebration of the power of friendship.

When: April 12, 1:00-4:00 p.m.

Where: The Frieze Studio of Music
204 Arnow Drive, St. Marys, GA

What to Bring: A 1-minute monologue that showcases your Southern charm. Prepare to read from the script at the audition.

This is a show that celebrates friendship, love, and the incredible strength of women. If you've got the heart, sass, and spirit of a Steel Magnolia, we want to see you there! Don't miss your chance to be part of this unforgettable production!

CHARACTER BREAKDOWN

Truvy Jones (Late 30s–50s):

The beauty salon owner with a heart as big as her hair. Truvy is full of energy, quick wit, and always has a kind word for everyone. She's the glue that holds this group of women together, and her Southern charm is contagious.

Annelle Dupuy-Desoto (20s–30s):

A shy, nervous newcomer who finds her place in the beauty shop and in life. Annelle has a quiet strength that grows as the show progresses, and her journey is one of personal transformation.

Ouiser Boudreaux (50s–70s):

The outspoken, no-nonsense matriarch of the group.

Ouiser is sharp-tongued, stubborn, and refuses to sugarcoat anything. But beneath her tough exterior is a heart full of love for her friends. A real firecracker with a soft spot.

Clairee Belcher (50s–70s):

The wealthy, charming, and witty widow with a sharp sense of humor. Clairee has a knack for stirring the pot but is also a loyal and supportive friend. She's got class, sass, and a whole lot of love for her friends.

M'Lynn Eatenton (40s–50s):

A strong, determined, and loving mother who is dealing with personal challenges. M'Lynn is the emotional center of the group, always putting others first. Her vulnerability shines through her fierce protective nature.

Shelby Eatenton-Latcherie (20s–30s):

The spirited and optimistic daughter of M'Lynn. Shelby is a true Southern belle with a love for life and a heart of gold. She faces life's hardest challenges with grace, courage, and a sense of humor.
